Oxford, Mich., May 19, 2017 – Kingsbury Country Day School announced today that David Poirier will become their new Head of School on July 1. Poirier has over 10 years of educational experience as a teacher and administrator in Michigan charter schools.

“For over 60 years, Kingsbury has been a leader in providing an exceptional education for its students. With his experience and credentials, we believe David will be a tremendous asset in helping our students succeed in the Kingsbury way”, said Christine Stephens, President of Kingsbury’s School Board.

“I am thrilled to be joining a school community that is highly regarded in northern Oakland County,” Poirier said. “The environmental science philosophy and family-centered atmosphere both set Kingsbury apart from other schools, and are what attracted me to this opportunity. I look forward to working with everyone here to continue the Kingsbury tradition of academic excellence.”

Poirier’s career began with Okemos Public Schools before he moved to schools in Detroit where he worked as an elementary teacher and instructional coach. He’s currently a Principal at American Montessori Academy in Livonia, Mich. He holds a bachelor’s degree in Biology from Michigan State University and a master’s in educational leadership, K-12 administration from Eastern Michigan University. His educational background combined with his passion for environmental science makes him a perfect fit for Kingsbury.
